"PROGRESSIVE" FRAUD

A less zealous reformer than The Republican's censor of the Gazette's telegraph service would become weary of well doing, seeing that so little has come of it. He proved a few days ago that a single issue of the Gazette contained 4116 words of fake "telegraph." He believed that his exposure would be of some benefit to the Gazette readers in whose ignorance of such matters the Gazette must repose a good deal of confidence for there has since been no cleansing of its columns.

The Gazette is probably in favor of a pure food law. But it certainly would not favor a pure telegraph law. It is "progressive" in fraud and deception upon its country readers who it imagines believe that whatever bears a telegraph date is telegraph.

But much of the stuff does not look like telegraph. Even the more ignorant of the Gazette constituency must be able to detect its false and spurious character but for the edification of those who have not done so, the censor compiles herewith the "telegraph" which the Gazette "initiated" last night and "referred" to the common people:

Here are 28 fake dispatches containing an aggregate of 5609 fraudulent words. Not one of them came to the Gazette over a telegraph wire. This tops the record for fraud so far as the censor has kept any record. The Gazette has become either recklessly progressive in the art of deception or outrageously reactionary in the matter of words.
